

HEMA in conversation with society

For HEMA it's important to engage with external stakeholders. We believe we can only achieve a positive impact together. 2020 was a special year, in which the importance of staying connected to each other was extra important. We have spoken with external stakeholders in various ways. Our sustainability and other departments, and the Executive Board were closely involved in these conversations. We spoke about various topics that we linked to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

We have divided the stakeholders into the following different groups:

- partners
- certification organisations
- governments
- civil society organisations
- industry and sector organizations
- suppliers
- customers
